

Thanksgiving is approaching fast, and many are planning to spend countless hours in the kitchen putting together the perfect holiday feast for their families. This may be a terrifying prospect to some. Fortunately, several restaurants in Phoenix will be open to serve dinner or prepare a meal to be enjoyed at home—without piles of dishes to wash afterward! We've compiled the best options the Valley has to offer.

Dine In

Arizona Biltmore Resort & Spa

The iconic hotel is hosting several Thanksgiving events throughout the day. A buffet will be served in the Gold Room from noon to 5 p.m., featuring traditional holiday staples, specialty wines, a children's buffet and more. The new Frank & Albert's restaurant will have à la carte breakfast, lunch and dinner menus starting at 6 a.m. For a more upscale meal, Wright's is offering an à la carte, five-course menu. Reservations for the Gold Room and Wright's are required.
