

Holiday Tea at The Phoenician

Written by Amanda Rumore

Tis the season to make memories in Phoenix and beyond! A terrific time to take children for a high tea experience is during the holidays, when everyone is feeling especially festive. You may even begin a new family tradition! If you're in the Scottsdale / Phoenix area, the Holiday High Tea at The Phoenician is the perfect event to kickoff or compliment the season.

From November 25 through December 30, 2016, the Holiday Tea at The Phoenician is a memorable experience for guests of all ages. The Phoenician pastry team creates a magical culinary experience featuring specialty finger sandwiches, freshly baked scones with Devonshire cream and preserves, as well as delicate pastries – all accompanied by a large selection of unique tea blends set against a stunning holiday backdrop with a live pianist.

Menu – Your Holiday High Tea menu will consist of three amazing courses; delicious finger sandwiches, freshly baked cones and an amazing array of deserts. Every guest will also have their very own pot of custom tea served in a beautiful teapot and accompanied with a tea cup and strainer. Champagne is optional!

Kids – The Phoenician warmly welcomes little-ones and ensures they have an exciting experience. They also have a special kids menu, including favorite finger food options like ham and swiss and peanut butter and jelly. Kids are also half-priced for the Holiday Tea.
