Mark-Taylor has spent the past several years refining and studying the multifamily market, and has a unique understanding of what residents seek in apartment living. Its Next Generation communities provide a custom home experience – in an apartment. Located in lucrative corridors with abundant recreational and entertainment options nearby, Mark-Taylor Next Generation communities offer residents an opportunity to experience living in an urban residential community while unencumbered by a long-term mortgage commitment.

Next Generation living is available today, at Mark-Taylor communities in beautiful desert landscapes throughout Arizona. See the flexible floor plans and finishes in the virtual tours at www.mark-taylor.com.
