Popular sportscaster Bruce Cooper and one of the nicest people you'll ever meet (who most of us call "Coop") has been hospitalized with heart problems. We are so relieved to report that he's doing better, and although the news from his doctors is encouraging, Coop will be off the Channel 12 airwaves for some time.

"We are overwhelmed with emotions and cannot express how much we appreciate everyone for being so incredibly thoughtful and considerate. You all are truly awesome and Bruce look forward to seeing you very soon. And a special thank you to the doctors and nurses."
