Kathy Shayna Shocket has the inside scoop on the stories that make headlines.

Kathy's scoop on this hot property just listed.

Wow! This amazing property in Glendale boasting a celebrity owner, is now on the market for $5.5 million. Once you visit the sprawling estate, it's not hard to tell it's owned by a baseball player. That's because the property has somewhat of a ballpark theme. But, the home is a RESORT of LUXURY. Lots of it!

It's the 2 acre abode of Damion Easley, the former Angels, Tigers and Mets player, now an assistant coach for the Peoria Padres of the Arizona League. Damion, who also runs the Warrior Baseball Academy, had the home built in 2005.

This 15,000 square foot contemporary home with 6 bedrooms and 8.5 bathrooms, has a huge lagoon style pool with a water-slide, home theatre with a karaoke stage, butler's pantry and a 6-car garage. It's all mixed in with the baseball field themed showers, bedroom with a scoreboard mural,-a trophy gallery and a gym with an indoor batting cage.

There's an upstairs entertainment area boasting a game room and wet bar. Photos are from Arizona Premier Agents which has the listing for this magnificent mansion. It could break sales records in Glendale, depending on the final sale price. Oh yes, and did I mention there is also a Wiffle ball field, putting green, sports court and a sunken trampoline?

Stay tuned!
