

Rusty Wallace Racing Experience

Written by Ashley Pearlstein

Have you ever wanted to be a racecar driver for a day? Do the fast cars and excitement of the track entice you? The Rusty Wallace Racing Experience will fulfill this dream and provide unmatched entertainment for the day.

The Rusty Wallace Racing Experience allows people to become a racecar driver for a day, experiencing the speed and exhilaration that comes along with the job. The experience is coming to Tucson at the Tucson Raceway Park track in November. Saturday and Sunday November 9 and 10, Tucsonans can book the ultimate driving experience at the 3/8 mile, progressive banked paved oval. The track, located at the Pima County Fairgrounds, is a short track experience on Harrison Road.

Those interested in experiencing the ride of their life can book a driving experience, or a ride-along experience for the more timid adventurer. A ride-along experience gives the guest the opportunity to sit shotgun for three laps in a racecar with a professional instructor for $99 per person. The driving experience allows the guest to drive a racecar solo after classroom instruction. Drivers can choose from a variety of experience packages like "The Qualifier," an 8-10 lap experience, for $249 per person. Longer driving experiences and advanced driving experiences are also available.

Book your ride-along or driving experience online today. Hurry, because spaces are limited!
