Pack your bags! No, really. You may be taking an awesome vacation this evening.

Last year's event

The Phoenix Suitcase Party is an awesome concept- patrons congregate for an amazing party (benefiting three incredible non profits) in the luxurious private jet hangar of the Deer Valley Airport- suitcases in tow. Upon entry, guests are handed a raffle ticket- after walking the red carpet and a night of delicious appetizers, drinks, and tunes by the Chadwick's, excitement builds as a luxury jet pulls into the hangar.

A winning ticket is chosen and the couple drops everything and takes off for an amazing weekend vacation in Sonoma Valley, California. The winner and one friend will enjoy wine tasting, five-star accommodations and a mini-adventure. And- of course- a flight home Sunday evening.

2009's lucky couple

Those who didn't get the chance to jetset to Cali have the opportunity to win a limo ride to one of several Valley resorts, where they'll enjoy amazing rooms and accommodations. Not lucky enough to snag one of those trips? There'll be tons of silent auction items up for grabs, too, all of which benefit Make-A-Wish foundation, the Children in Need Foundation and children's charities through The Active 20-30 Club of Phoenix.
