Over at Land of Adventure, our newest area and bigger than ever, discover Dune Raiders. Racing downhill, the slide will challenge every adventurer's speed and skill.

Every Saturday night this Summer we'll light the candles on our 10-foot tall LEGO birthday cake, then light up the sky above Pirate Shores with a magical fireworks show you won't want to miss.

Come see what all the excitement is about. With more than 50 rides, shows and attractions and 10 years of building fun, LEGOLAND is the place to be in 2009!

At SEA LIFE Aquarium next door to LEGOLAND, explore the 200,000-gallon ocean tank as you walk through a 35-foot long acrylic tunnel. And discover the mysterious Lost City of Atlantis, an underwater kingdom filled with sharks, stingrays and a dazzling rainbow of tropical fish.

San Diego Zoo's Wild Animal Park

A visit to the San Diego Zoo's Wild Animal Park is a safari into adventure.

Featuring expansive animal enclosures, this unique experience brings you thrillingly closer to African and Asian animals. Another option is to tool around on a Segway®? X2 Rolling Safari tour or soar over the Asian and African field enclosures on Flightline, a zip line adventure.

Whether you come face-to-face with lions, feed giraffes from a Photo Caravan Safari truck or watch a cheetah sprint at full speed, an exciting, up-close adventure awaits at the San Diego Zoo's Wild Animal Park.

San Diego Zoo

The San Diego Zoo is a sanctuary for thousands of animals, a landscape of rare plants and a fun experience for the whole family.

The Zoo's new Harry and Grace Steele Elephant Odyssey, is a first of its kind experience, providing an entertaining and educational journey. The 7.5-acre habitat features living relatives, such as the elephant, jaguar and California condor, of animal species that roamed Southern California 12,000 years ago.

The San Diego Zoo is the only place in North America to see a scaly anteater and is home to the largest colony of koalas outside of Australia. The Children's Zoo ensures that the smallest guests see animals in action with exhibits designed for children and the young at heart. The Zoo offers a guided bus tour and the Skyfari aerial tram gives guests a bird's-eye view of the Zoo.

The Residence Club on Mission Beach

Southern California's first oceanfront residence club has just opened in San Diego. The Residence Club on Mission Beach offers a spectacular location and resort-style services at a fraction of the cost of comparable whole ownership properties.

The Club's ten meticulously furnished residences are only steps from the sand and offer sweeping views of the coastline. Moondoggies Restaurant

One of Pacific Beach's favorite watering holes, Moondoggies keeps the locals happy with dozens of sports-tuned HDTVs and a huge sunny patio for relaxing, catching some rays and peoplewatching—a popular PB pastime.

Moondoggies is now known as the ultimate sports restaurant in San Diego, and has been voted Best Sports Bar four years running. Moondoggies sports bar and grill has a large sunny patio that's the perfect place to enjoy the San Diego breeze.

The menu features gourmet pizzas, sandwiches and other light fare, alongside icy cold drinks. Cool tones, an inviting lounge space and roll-up doors create a chill atmosphere on the most sun-soaked of SoCal afternoons.

Gringo's Cantina

Gringo's Cantina, located on Mission Blvd. is another great restaurant to check out in San Diego. This classic Mexican eatery is like three restaurants in one: a rustic cantina, a lively dining room and an open-air patio, each with its own distinct vibe.

Gringo's is famous for its queso blanco dip and frosty margaritas, both of which taste even better while cozying up to the outdoor fire pit. Locals also dig the Sunday brunch—nothing says weekend like bottomless mimosas! Lunch and dinner is served daily, brunch is served only on Sundays.
