

Afternoon Tea in Tucson

Written by AZFoothills.com

Thursday, 30 August 2012 08:14 - Last Updated Thursday, 15 June 2023 14:00

Tea lovers don't have to fret, because Tucson has a few specialty tea spots that will knock their socks off. Here are some top spots in Southern Arizona to enjoy an afternoon tea.

Chantilly Tea Room

Chantilly Tea Room offers the pleasures of afternoon tea, along with homemade breakfast and lunches. From Belgian Orange tea to organic tea to English Breakfast tea, Chantilly has it all. The quaint little tearoom also features a boutique filled with hidden treasures, perfect for gifts.

www.chantillytearoom.com.

Seven Cups

Seven cups, an American tea company based in Tucson, sources handmade, traditional Chinese teas. This Chinese tearoom offers free weekly tea tastings on Friday from 3 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. The Seven Cups Tea House, voted Best of Tucson for tea service and bulk tea selection, features a beautiful tea room and delicious teas. Schedule a traditional Chinese tea ceremony to really understand the tea culture of China.

www.sevencups.com.

The Tudor Rose English Tea Room

The Tudor Rose, an authentic English tearoom in Tucson, is British owned and operated. The classic afternoon tea hotspot serves lunch, teas, and British breakfast on Saturdays. The tearoom also offers an array of British gifts and groceries on site.

www.angelfire.com/az3/thetudorrose.

Loews Ventana Canyon

In November, December, and January, during the classic holiday season, Loews Ventana Canyon resort offers sophisticated afternoon tea. Guests can enjoy the seasonal deliciousness in the Cascade Lounge. Enjoy the breathtaking views of the desert surrounding the resort, while chatting with friends and enjoying a classy teatime atmosphere.

www.loewshotels.com.