

10 Things to Do This Weekend in Phoenix

Written by Editorial

Thursday, 28 February 2019 09:01 -

Photo courtesy of Kaleb Nimz of Unsplash.

Whether you're a foodie, a lover of electrifying music, a collector of Native American art or just someone looking to celebrate local curators and creators, there is certainly something for you and your family to enjoy in the Valley this weekend, March 1 through March 3. Check out our full roundup of the 10 best things to do this weekend:

Friday

M3F Music Festival

The M3F Music Festival returns to the Valley this weekend, with electrifying performances from Odesza, Empire of the Sun and Kurt Vile, and so many more in the festival's full lineup. Dance your worries away and embrace your inner-raver at this daring music event. Admission ticket prices vary. For more information on this event, click here.

Silent Night at Arizona Opera

On Christmas Eve in 1914, following a year of war and eclipsing darkness that consumed Europe, 100,000 soldiers put aside their differences and found comradery with one another. This inspiring true story is brought to life on the stage as a Pulitzer Prize-winning performance. Discover the heartwarming story of humanity courtesy of Ballet Arizona for a limited time. Admission tickets range from $25 to $125; the performance begins at 7:30 p.m. on Friday evening. For more information on this event, click here.

10 Things to Do This Weekend in Phoenix

Written by Editorial

Thursday, 28 February 2019 09:01 -

Rockin' Taco Rumble

The Rockin' Taco Rumble is comprised of flavorful taco creations, craft beer and spirits, live music and so much more that makes this foodie-haven truly fun for the entire family. Doors open at 6 p.m.; admission tickets are $45 in advance and $55 at the door. For more information on this delicious event, click here.

Saturday

Innings Festival

Sheryl Crow, Grouplove, Mat Kearney and Jimmy Eat World are just a few of the acts who are set to headline the beloved Innings Festival. With the stage set in Tempe, this music festival brings out a diverse audience and celebrates the beauty of all music. Admission passes range from $130 to $380. For more information on this event, click here.

Litchfield Park Art and Wine Festival

Celebrate the great essence of the Southwest through visual, culinary and sound-inspired events and activities at the Litchfield Park Art and Wine Festival. With spirit samples and art pieces from dozens of local artists, this festival puts the magic of Arizona culture on full display. The Litchfield Park Art and Wine Festival will be held at Downtown Litchfield Park. For more information on this free event, click here.

10 Things to Do This Weekend in Phoenix

Written by Editorial

Thursday, 28 February 2019 09:01 -

Phoenix Flea Market

The long-adored Heritage Square Park in Downtown Phoenix is set to play host for the Phoenix Flea Market once again, which will make its long-awaited return this weekend. This event showcases the best of local artists and curators. With food vendors, local retail boutiques and appearances from some of the state's most popular brands, this is a can't-miss flea market and the perfect opportunity to shop local. Admission tickets are $5; the event will go from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. For more information on this event, click here.

Tres Rios Nature Festival

The Tres Rio Nature Festival is the perfect excuse to get outside and appreciate Arizona's unique landscape and natural beauty, before the smoldering summer temperatures make their return. This festival celebrates the rich diversity and well-preserved wildlife of the Gila River drainage area. Attendees can enjoy kayaking, canoeing, bird watching and hiking. This free event will go from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. For more information on this event, click here.

The Great Inflatable Race

At long last, we've found a race that actually makes running sound enjoyable. Yes, we're talking about the Great Inflatable Race, which will take place this weekend. The Great Inflatable Race is a fun run with inflatable obstacles that is truly fun for the entire family. Admission tickets vary; the race begins at 9 a.m. For more information on this event, click here.

Sunday

10 Things to Do This Weekend in Phoenix

Written by Editorial

Thursday, 28 February 2019 09:01 -

Heard Museum Guild Indian Fair and Market

Handcrafted Indian creations and sentiments are on full display at the Heard Museum's Guild Indian Fair and Market. The event features more than 600 Native artists and from 116 tribal affiliations. Stop by the market to admire these unparalleled creations and get a true taste of Native American culture. For more information on this event, click here.

Worlds of Wonder

The Herberger Theatre Center's fan-favorite "Worlds of Wonder" show is nearing the end of its run in the Valley. This dazzling performance mixes old and new moves of "Rite of Spring," which is choreographed and set to the magnificent works of Stravinsky. The show has captivated audiences since its Valley debut in late February. Admission tickets are $28 for adults and $23 for seniors. Performance times vary. For more information on this event, click here.