

Take a Dinner Date to New Heights

Written by Ashley Haines

Tuesday, 22 February 2011 16:49 -

It's dinnertime, and you're at your favorite evening spot. The ambiance is always just right: candle-lit tables, smooth music, and not to mention the exquisite cuisine. Now, imagine having all of those things, but suspended 160 feet up in the air. Dinner in the Sky has all of that and more. This Belgian-based dining experience uses a crane to suspend tables into the sky. But dinner isn't all they're taking to new heights (literally). Meeting in the Sky, Showbizz in the Sky, and Wedding in the Sky are all rising off the ground in 30 different countries worldwide.

Heightening your taste buds at a whole new level with "Dinner in the Sky." Named one of Forbes' "10 Unusual Restaurants around the World," the platform allows for 22 different guests to dine with an expert chef, a waiter, and entertainer for up to eight hours. You can customize your dining event with decorations, lighting, and more to make the experience that much more unique and memorable. Dinner in the Sky can take place almost anywhere. Instead walking down the Vegas strip, you can eat above it.

No one truly enjoys sitting in those long office meetings, trying so hard to stay awake by fidgeting with a pen. Meeting in the Sky presents a new way to conference minus the boring four walls and roof. Up to 30 guests and three speakers are sure to keep your group wide awake while floating above the ground. You can even utilize a second crane for presentation purposes and a bigger wow factor (as if being 50 meters in the air isn't enough). With a Meeting in the Sky, you're sure to impress your guests and perhaps land that big contract...

Putting on a show has never been this exciting. The Showbizz in the Sky element is opportune for anything from staging a fashion show or tickling the ivories in a musical recital. Almost anything is possible and able to rise above the horizon. This Showbizz platform allows for five different entertainers to stand on as they perform for guests seated at a Dinner in the Sky platform only a few feet away. It's simple to transform a typical showcase into an amazing skyscraping event.

It's not a bird or a plane—it's holy matrimony. What better way to say your vows with your to-be than up in the sky and closer to the heavens. It's an ultimate display of love and union in a not-so traditional manner. Imagine saying your "I do's" as the Grand Canyon's starry night sky twinkles in unison. The one thing that can make the ceremony more sacred is being able to share this special moment with 20 intimate guests. Marriage in the Sky can make your dream wedding a reality at a new height.

Take a Dinner Date to New Heights

Written by Ashley Haines

Tuesday, 22 February 2011 16:49 -

Events in the Sky are the perfect way to experience your favorite places in a brand-new way. There's no limit to what you can do while suspended 50 meters in the air. Strap yourself in!

Visit their website, Events in the Sky, for more info.