

Cool Lunchboxes for Back to School

Written by Elizabeth Liberatore

Monday, 15 August 2011 14:29 - Last Updated Wednesday, 17 August 2011 11:04

It's that time of year again for all your moms to start buying back-to-school lunch goodies, from delectable Lunchables, savory fruits and the dreaded chocolate snack-packs. Deciding what to nourish your children with is just as important as what to pack it in. Send your kids back to school with the latest lunchbox trends around; not only will they be eating in style but they will be the latest fad in the cafeteria.

Let's Do Lunch by Vera Bradley

For all you girly-girls, Vera Bradley's adorable lunch sacks are perfect for you. Choose from over 30 different paisley and flower designs that put the paper lunch bag to shame. Designed to hold most pre-packaged frozen meals or a thermos, it's lined in a new vinyl-backed taffeta with a slip pocket and a large zippered opening for easy access. An ID window has been added to the design to eliminate any mix-ups in the cafeteria. Display your individuality with a handheld lunch bag by Vera Bradley today. Prices vary from $22-$12.

For additional information visit: <http://www.verabradley.com/>.

Goodbyn Bynto

There is finally a solution for all those picky eaters that don't like when their foods touch. The Goodbyn Bynto, a smaller version of the Goodbyn Original, is a plastic lunch organizer that separates all different kinds of foods effortlessly. Both versions are dishwasher safe, recyclable-friendly and come with hundreds of stickers for personalization. The Goodbyn Original is $25 and the Bynto is $16. Finally send your picky eater to school assured that they will come home full!

For additional information visit: <http://store.goodbyn.com/>.

Minisax

Your kids will make a big impact at the cafeteria without making an impact on the environment with the Minisax. Maximizing reuse and minimizing wastage, Minisax has a cute little takeaway coffee cup holder built into the design. The cup holder also doubles as a foldaway

Cool Lunchboxes for Back to School

Written by Elizabeth Liberatore

Monday, 15 August 2011 14:29 - Last Updated Wednesday, 17 August 2011 11:04

mechanism where you can tuck the bag away, into its own mini pouch for easy storage, ready when you need it next time. Only $6 and over eight designs!

For additional information visit: <http://www.envirosax.com/slingsax-minisax.html>.

Frecklebox

Frecklebox has put a twist onto the nostalgic tin lunchbox that we all have grown to love. The lunch boxes are made of .30-millimeter tin (lead free) and covered with printed, laminated high-tack adhesive on all sides. They have a chalkboard on the inside lid for writing notes to your loved ones. Add a touch of personalization by incorporating your child's name on the design of their lunchbox. $30 each.

For additional information visit: <http://www.frecklebox.com/default.aspx>.

Bobble Lunch Boxes

Exclusive at Target, Bobble introduces an innovative design that kids will sure to love. The lunchbox features a semi-clear lid so you can see what's inside. It is hard and durable, so you don't need to worry about smashed bananas or squished sandwiches. A BPA-free water bottle with a fun shape and built-in filter is included. Not only are you saving money but you are also saving the environment with every filtered sip of water your child takes. Only $13.

For additional information visit: <http://www.target.com/>.