The good news just keeps coming for March 23's Celebrity Fight Night attendees. Legendary tenor Andrea Bocelli has just been announced as a performer for Celebrity Fight Night XIX at JW Marriott Desert Ridge Resort & Spa in Phoenix. (Jennifer Lopez and Steve Martin and The Steep Canyon Rangers are also taking the stage that evening.)

"There have been many Celebrity Fight Night events where I could only take part virtually, with my heart only and not personally," says Bocelli, in a press release. "Finally this time I will be able to support even more effectively and embrace all those who are working on this project with the aim to raise funds for research and to defeat Parkinson's disease."

Fight Night supports the Muhammad Ali Parkinson Center at Barrow Neurological Institute in Phoenix, as well as numerous other charities. For more info and tickets visit www.celebrityfightnight.org.
