John C. Lincoln North Mountain Hospital has just received an accreditation in Echocardiography in Adult Transthoracic care by the Intersocietal Accreditation Commission. This means that the Echocardiology department at John C. Lincoln North Mountain Hospital has been thoroughly reviewed by experts and comply with national standards.

A significant procedure crucial to the diagnosis of heart disease, "[t]his accreditation illustrates that the facility has achieved service standards at the highest level, and is a testament to the extraordinary efforts put forth by the echocardiographers, physicians and all our other stakeholders," said Cesar Garcia, director of North Mountain's Cardiac Catheterization, Electrophysiology and Cardiovascular Diagnostic Labs, in a press release.
