

Get Beautiful While Giving Back

Written by Melissa Larsen

Beauty Editor Diane Aiello shares her fall beauty picks for lovely skin, hair and nails.

Locks with Love

It's hard to find the perfect shine products that won't leave hair a limp, oily mess, but Aquaage Beyond Shine gives hair a frizz-free look while protecting it from thermal styling tools. And when you snag the special pink edition, a percentage of proceeds go to breast cancer research. $17. www.aquage.com.

It-Girl Beauty

Marc Jacobs fans have been swooning over his new beauty line—and with good reason. The collection features 120 innovative products including the Remedy Concealer Pen. This all-in-one eraser-corrector-brightener magically revives and smoothes eyes with anti-aging ingredients. $39. Sephora.

Pretty in Pink

You can't go wrong with a pretty pink mani or pedi, and one of our favorites, Essie, has created two fabulous shades for October Breast Cancer Awareness month. Pink About It and Pink Works are the perfect shades to take you through all four seasons, so why not try both? $8. www.essie.com.

Skin Fusion

If you are still battling with the damage caused by a summer full of sun, Peter Thomas Roth Retinol Fusion Alternative is a miracle worker on dark spots without the side effects of other harsh lighteners. It mimics the effects of retinol but is safe for sensitive skin. $85. www.peterthomasroth.com.

Flush of Blush

VMV Hypoallergenics Skin Bloom Blush lends the perfect flush to cheeks while green tea and rice phytic acid provide antioxidant benefits. And, with virgin coconut oil, titanium dioxide and iron oxide pigments, you get moisturized skin and added sun protection. $40. www.VMVhypoallergenics.com.
