Renowned East Valley sculptor and multimedia artist Gary Vulcano is bringing his bold and energetic artwork to On The Edge Gallery in Scottsdale this October. Known for his pop art style and mixed media creations, Vulcano continues to gain recognition across the Valley for his expressive, storytelling-driven works. A full-time artist, Vulcano's portfolio spans metal sculpture, acrylic painting, assemblage, AI-generated pieces, and digital art.

His unique aesthetic bridges the gap between advertising and fine art, resulting in pieces that are both visually dynamic and emotionally resonant. His works often explore contemporary themes and icons, aiming to spark thought and evoke emotion.

"I am excited to exhibit my work at On The Edge Gallery," Vulcano said. "Through my artwork, I like to spark thought, stir emotion, and have fun doing it. Exhibiting my work in a prominent gallery in Scottsdale means I can share my artwork with more people who will be able to feel the joy I receive when creating my art."
