It's a busy weekend in the arts with Art Detour 27 happening in downtown Phoenix. Now get ready for a great evening featuring a great classic film in the park in the heart of the Roosevelt Row Arts District!

Happening during Art Detour 27, don't miss seeing "Stop Making Sense: Talking Heads" this Saturday, March 7th in a free outdoor screening presented by Artlink Inc., No Festival Required Independent Cinema and Palm Pictures. This special event is being hosted by the monOrchid and The Lot: What Should Go Here Pop-Up Parkon Saturday, March 7, 2015 at 8:30pm to 10pm (Weather Permitting)! So bring your blankets, grab your lawn chairs, and bring some snacks and get ready for an incredible night of music and cinematic history! Located at 1005 N. 2nd Street, next door to the monOrchid.

An incredible film by Jonathan Demme "Stop Making Sense: Talking Heads", this film follows the legendary band the Talking Heads over the course of three nights at Hollywood's Pantages Theater in December 1983. This is an amazing concert film that "following a staging concept by singer-guitarist David Byrne, Stop Making Sense is a celebration of music that never grows old, fueled by the polyrhythmic pop-funk precision that was a Talking Heads trademark, and lit from within by the geeky supernova that is David Byrne." This film combines amazing music and interesting backdrop of words, images, or children's drawings while the band plays a staggering 18 songs.

Remember Artlink Phoenix hosts Art Detour 27, producing an incredible weekend of the arts happening Saturday, March 7th and Sunday March 8th from 11am until 5:00pm. The weekend will feature many activities including a diverse selection of amazing art exhibitions, open studios, live painting, bike and walking tours, hands-on kids' activities, amazing food trucks, local music and so much more. It's going to be a wonderful weekend for the arts and the perfect opportunity to explore everything downtown Phoenix has to offer!
