Artists Donna Armstrong & Vicki Rapaport at The Art Bar

Their name reflects their work and incorporates their names: Bernstein, Armstrong and Rapaport = "The Art Bar". The concept behind "The Art Bar" are three dynamic female artists who have created a brilliant pop up art series and gallery to showcase their work, (as well as invited guest artists) offering a new personality and flare. They have started presenting these pop up galleries typically November through February, roughly 4-6 times per year. Each event encompasses a sense of a "happy hour art show, i.e. bringing the fun back into collecting art or as they say, "Raising the bar on Art."

Painting by Donna Bernstein

Donna Bernstein is a largely self-taught who has studied privately with such artist's as international painter Robert Dash, contemporary abstractionist Christine Raymond, and modern metal sculptress Sue Latta. Bernstein's personal artistic blend and signature clean, fresh style creates art that is modern in structure yet deeply intimate, appealing to both the horse lover and formal art collector. Bernstein is now expanding the design of her paintings into equestrian fashion silk scarves, celebrating her work as wearable art. Over the years Bernstein has been profiled

Rapaport works with beautiful stones and both silver and 18kt gold, designing one of a kind pieces that offer a loop-in-loop chain with special key ends that make the clasp the focal point for each piece. Bronze Sculpture by David Venell

Featured guest artist David Venell is an award winning bronze sculptor and jewelry designer. As an artist he feels very fortunate to be able to convey the mind's eye into a three dimensional work of art. His goal with his work is always to create a snapshot in time and to capture the chaos and calm of military life, past and present. As an artist, there is no higher compliment for me than to have my work inspire memories, emotions and sometimes tears. For more about artist David Venell visit <http://dpvstudios.com>.
