Your eyes meet across the room, immediately sparks fly. Maybe it's the ambiance of the evening, the music...something is new and exciting about it. You look away, torn by what to do, do you approach her? Your heart flutters with anticipation as you think of the possibility of taking her home to meet your family, to live with you and have a happily ever after. That's when you know the time is right, you move quickly as to not miss the opportunity – you know you're the one, the one to make her dreams come true, the one to...make her tail wag!

Like the amorous love stories of the past, you too can experience that one-of-a-kind sensation of puppy love, the theme of this year's Arizona Humane Society Compassion for Fashion, Saturday April 3, 2010 at 10:30 am at The Phoenician Resort. A marriage of food, entertainment, fashion show and auction, along with pets for adoption, will leave your heart racing, and while you enjoy the festivities, you'll be helping animals in need.

In true form with the great romances of yesterday, Humphrey Bogart and Ingrid Bergman, Little Orphan Annie and Sandy or E.T. and Elliot, love at first sight is always in fashion. You will find many ways to show your affection for animals, through our heart pounding silent auction, raffle with amazing prizes, or you can devote your time to sponsoring the event via a table purchase. Of course, there will be plenty of adorable, adoptable dogs at the event, each with their own unique personalities, lovable natures, and indescribable "it" factor that we hope you will melt over.

Tickets start at $125, with exclusive seating available, but they will go quickly, so please be sure to order yours now. All proceeds will show your adoration by helping the thousands of animals at the Arizona Humane Society. Sponsorships are also still available.
