

Rehearsal Dinners

Written by Rachel Troyan, Associate Planner for Outstanding Occasions
Thursday, 09 June 2011 09:49 - Last Updated Thursday, 09 June 2011 10:00

Many times, with all the planning focused on your big day, the rehearsal dinner often becomes an afterthought. Rehearsal dinners are a great way to welcome guests, and set the tone for your wedding weekend. When choosing your rehearsal dinner venue, have fun with it and pick a place that you feel represents you and your fiancé.

Here are a few local Arizona venues that we think would be the perfect place to host your upcoming rehearsal dinner.

If you're looking to give your guests a taste of the Wild West with a cowboy theme, Pinnacle Peak Patio offers just that. Their unique private party space and barbeque menu is perfect for any size group.

For the architecture buffs, Frank Lloyd Wright's winter home, Taliesin West is a perfect choice. Located at the foothills of the McDowell Mountains in Scottsdale, this site offers gorgeous views of Scottsdale and allows your guests to get a guided tour of one of Wright's masterpieces.

For the wine and pizza lovers, Grazie Pizzeria and Wine Bar in Old Town Scottsdale is sure to please. This pizzeria offers a beautiful patio in the heart of Old Town Scottsdale as well as authentic Italian style pizza and over 100 imported wines. Buon Appetito!

For the couple who want to really make a statement and have an over-the-top rehearsal dinner, Castillo Lucena at Montelucia in Paradise Valley is your place. Nestled at the foot of picturesque Camelback Mountain, this resort has a southern European essence with rich textures and Mediterranean colors. This venue really gives you an opportunity to design a luxurious and relaxing dinner.

Outstanding Occasions

On the most important day of your life, you don't want to be scrambling for phone numbers or running around with flowers. Heather Crabtree and Jennifer Thinnies with Outstanding Occasions have loads of experience and can create custom packages for you- whether you are looking for day-of coordinating or genius, creative ideas. www.outstanding-occasions.com