Photo booths have been a staple at weddings for a few years, but we want to share a new fabulous company with you that puts a modern spin on the traditional photo booth. Self Portrait Station is the newest evolution of photo booth fun and technology. The booth isn't actually a booth at all. There are no walls and you can fit a lot of people into the photo. And wait for the best part...you get to control when the photo is taken. Their motto is "You pose, you click, we print." It is so super easy and extremely fun! While you are posing for your next photo, the Self Portrait Station team is editing and printing high quality 4x6 photos. Check out some of their fun photos from past events!

We love the modern, white paper flowers for the backdrop of this portrait station.

And how much fun is this wooden wall backdrop with the cowboy boots!

You can also pick a solid color backdrop for $50. Of course, we love the grey!

How about this teal-colored backdrop? The pop of color is so fun!

And you know we also love the yellow backdrop. That yellow just puts a smile on your face!

They even provide props for you to have fun with in the photo.

Now go contact them now so you and your guests can have a blast at the wedding and be able to treasure these photos forever!
