Things I want for Mother's Day... a nap, laundry-folder, meal maker and maid. Is that too much to ask?

Given the Corona, us mamas have take on wearing a lot of hats, and truth be told, we could really use some spoiling this Mother's Day.

Here are 6 #stayhome friendly options for gifting mom something extra meaningful.

1. Bloomscape Bamboo

We could all use a little luck, right? Bloomscape is the modern garden center for exquisite potted house plants. The digital greenhouse prides itself with patented shipping technology making it the only service delivering plants of all sizes across the U.S. Snag mom the bamboo palm; lush, easy to care for, non-toxic, impressive, and a natural air cleaner, removing formaldehyde from the air. Plus, bamboo is known for luck, so mama will surely appreciate it.

2. Bonnie Plants

Going along with the planting theme, Bonnie Plants gets mom gardening her own veggies. The company's caged and container plants are awesome, gifting mom everything she needs to grow her own tomatoes, peppers and herbs. Each purchase comes with a plant, pot, soil and cage- all you need to do is provide a spot that gets 6-8 hours of sun per day. You know mom will love working her green thumb and feeding her family freshly grown produce.

3. PastBook

Prepare to be obsessed. PastBook is the easiest memory book ever tailored to insta-moms. The platform literally takes all your social media posts per year and automatically creates a book in just one click. You can delete whatever pics you don't want to include and edit your captions if you so choose. Simply put: PastBook collects the highlights of mom's life moments and provide her with a tangible way to relive them.

4. Mom's the word

For the expecting mom, nursing mom or postpartum mom, Mom's the Word is the ultimate one-stop-shop for mom-wear. This fab online boutique offers high quality apparel tailored to moms who crave comfort, functionality and style. Sure, there are plenty of lovely versatile options for breastfeeding moms, but truth be told- all moms can sport the chic jumpsuits, dresses and loungewear (even if they're not nursing). My top pick for the sunny season: the Serafina dress.

5. MantraBand

Gotta throw in some bling, and if mom likes jewelry, she'll love bracelets from MantraBand. Available in an array of finishes (silver, gold and beyond), the inspirational jewelry brand offers timeless pieces featuring empowering messages to promote a lifestyle of optimism, positivity, and mindfulness. Crafted from lead-free, tarnish-resistant stainless steel, the hypoallergenic everyday jewelry pieces will bring mom to happy-tears... get her a bracelet that says "fearless," "let it go," or personalize one yourself.

6. Mama B. Designs

With so many twinning options for #girlmoms, Mama B. Designs has something special for blessed #boymoms. This mom-owned biz sells adorable twinning options for moms and sons, such as mom's "My Son is my Sunshine" tee paired with a "Mama's Sunshine" top for her beloved little boy. Plus, the company aims at stylishly spreading prematurity awareness; 50% of your purchase benefits March of Dimes.
