

Chef Christopher Gross on Being in Japan During the Earthquake and Tsunami

Written by Claire Perkins

Monday, 14 March 2011 13:03 - Last Updated Monday, 14 March 2011 13:23

EXTRA EXTRA!

"The quake felt like it went forever, and it wasn't going to stop. It was amazing watching walls move and and roads and buildings, then seeing all the people by the millions walking home on the street. It was a seemingly endless stream of people calmly walking down the streets in both directions because of all the trains and metro were closed."

- Chef Christopher Gross on being in Japan during the 8.9 magnitude earthquake and tsunami