Devoured Culinary Classic 2012: The perfect gift of value for foodies and art connoisseurs alike Saturday & Sunday, March 10 & 11, 2012
Tickets $59 through Jan. 1 at www.DevouredPhoenix.com. A holiday preview reveals a celebrated list of the area's culinary talent already on board.

Devoured Culinary Classic is back with Arizona's finest local restaurants, chefs, wineries and industry purveyors. This Independently edible, award-winning culinary event benefiting Local First Arizona, is set at the beautiful Phoenix Art Museum's Dorrance Sculpture Garden (1625 N Central Ave), March 10 and 11, 2012, 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Critically acclaimed for fostering exceptional food experiences and innovative culinary demonstrations on the SubZero/Wolf Chefs Demonstration Stage, each year the event features local gourmet artisans, food producers and Arizona vintners, among others.

Local culinary leaders already confirmed for Devoured 2012 include:

- Chef Jacques Qualin: J&G Steakhouse at The Phoenician
- Chef Silvana Salcido Esparza: Barrio Cafe?/ Silvana Bistro/ Barrio Queen
- Chef Justin Beckett: Beckett's Table
- Chef Aaron Chamberlin: St. Francis
- Master Pastry Chef Tammie Coe: Tammie Coe Cakes

Perfect Gift for Foodies. The Southwest's finest culinary event is also perhaps the best culinary gift-giving deal in Arizona, especially now through Jan. 1, when the promotional price is $59. Guests meet Arizona culinary talents, taste and discover a variety of chef creations, enjoy cooking demonstrations and learn more about Arizona's pioneering winemakers all at one venue. What's more, general admission to the Phoenix Art Museum, the Southwest's premier museum for world-class visual arts, is included with each Devoured ticket.
