EXTRA! EXTRA!

Maclaine Driver.

Sound like a superstar? Don't be surprised if he isn't one in the not to distant future. New and local agency, JANI Model Management, is excited with the recent signing of Maclaine with NEXT Model Management. NMM is one of the top modeling agencies in the world, with offices in London, Paris, Milan, New York, Los Angeles and Miami. Rumors abound that this half German, half Lebanese Arizona native will be featured in upcoming Calvin Klein campaigns and word on the street is he will be in NY to meet with brands such as Versace and Givenchy. Maclaine, 17, was unknowingly discovered while getting a hair cut at a local salon.

"We are incredibly excited with this news. We are a new boutique agency; while we currently have female models signed in LA and overseas, Maclaine's success with NEXT, really puts our agency on the map for men's faces as well." says JMM owner Maral Jorjani.
