EXTRA EXTRA!

Oops, she did it again! Britney Spears is once again the buzz of the media. However, this time it's not for something like shaving her head or a pregnancy.

Instead, Britney Spears is moving onto the next chapter in her life. Britney recently announced that she will be singing in Las Vegas exclusively for the next two years. Britney will be hosting a new hip and trendy show in Vegas at Planet Hollywood nightclub, a show expected to attract many viewers from all over. With this new declared residency in Vegas for two years, Britney will be performing extravagant shows (snakes and all) at the Planet Hollywood nightclub as well as various pool parties.

Needless to say, Britney fans are excited to see the potential of this show. This is definitely going to be something you will want to see!
