Well Isn't That Special?

Nothing is lamer, in my opinion, than mass-produced art. But then again, I'm kind of a jerk.

But original art doesn't have to be expensive! Caitlin McGauley is a watercolor artist who has painted illustrations for Kate Spade, Tory Burch and tons of mags and other awesome publications. Her pieces are super bright and fun and all totally oridge.

She sells her little gems in an online store, and has the most delectable blog, too!

Caitlin McGauley, prices vary.
