As college kids around the globe retreat on spring break, we adults can take advantage of spring with a golfing getaway to Sin City.

I'll admit that golf isn't typically the first activity that comes to mind when considering a trip to Las Vegas. Nonetheless, locals and traveling golfers know that Sin City offers up a grand selection of world-class desert golf year round. While golf may not be the primary intention for a visit to the strip, it makes an excellent diversion for a break between slots.

Available through May 31, the Signature at MGM Grand is offering a stellar golf escape package for pin seekers everywhere.

Whether it's schmoozing with clients, teeing it up with buddies or just improving your own game, a new limited-time offer by The Signature at MGM Grand gives golfers the option to save big while playing one of three lush Walters Golf Courses – Bali Hai, Royal Links or Desert Pines Golf Club.

After a long day on the green, those who take advantage of the offering needn't worry about lifting an finger. Instead, they can relax and unwind at The Signature at MGM Grand within their richly appointed luxury suite, enjoy complimentary welcome cocktails or experience indulgent spa treatments.

The package includes several amenities to indulge in-- Suite rates beginning at $129 per night, A $50 golf credit redeemable at Bali Hai, Royal Links or Desert Pines Golf Clubs, welcome cocktails for two at The Signature Lobby Lounge, complimentary continental breakfast for two at Delights at The Signature and 20 percent discount on services at Grand Spa.

A non-smoking, non-gaming luxury resort, The Signature at MGM Grand offers the best of both worlds by providing an idyllic retreat, just steps from the excitement of Las Vegas. Ranging from 550 to 1,500 square feet, suites feature king-size, pillow-top beds draped in 300-thread count sheets and soft, down comforters while bathrooms are stocked with plush towels, cozy robes and rejuvenating in-suite spa products.

Guests also enjoy The Signature's private pools, state-of-the-art fitness centers and superior concierge staff readily available to customize the ideal golf retreat. The offer is based on a two-night minimum stay. Additional fees and black-out dates may apply.
