In honor of Breast Cancer Awareness Month, Tempe-based apparel brand Dixxon Flannel Co. has teamed up with the Keep A Breast Foundation to launch a new collaborative collection aimed at raising awareness and supporting breast cancer prevention efforts.

The exclusive collection features two statement pieces: the “13%” short sleeve bamboo shirt and the “I <3 Boobies” flannel. Both are bold tributes to those affected by breast cancer, with proceeds from each item supporting Keep A Breast's mission to educate and empower young people about breast cancer prevention.

The “13%” shirt is named in reference to a striking statistic: on average, 13 percent of women in the U.S. will develop breast cancer in their lifetime. The shirt, a men's short sleeve crafted in Dixxon's signature bamboo fabric, showcases a soft pink, black, and gray plaid design - symbolizing strength, solidarity, and awareness.

The second release, the “I <3 Boobies” flannel, carries the unmistakable campaign slogan that has become synonymous with breast cancer awareness. Featuring a pink and gray plaid pattern, the shirt blends Dixxon's rugged style with an unmistakable message of support.
