

Paradise at Fiji's Koro Sun Resort

Written by Jaclyn Weishar

Tuesday, 04 June 2013 16:11 - Last Updated Tuesday, 04 June 2013 16:24

In a remote setting that defines paradise, Koro Sun Resort & Rainforest Spa immerses you in a genuine Fijian experience that's nirvana to the core. In the unspoiled native north on "Fiji's other big island" of Vanua Levu, this 160-acre sanctuary was born of a nature lover's dream. The tropical retreat is etched within a coconut plantation that's encircled by lush rainforests at the edge of a stunning private lagoon.

From the moment you arrive, the Koro Sun staff embraces you like family. They greet you with a song that welcomes you to your home away from home. Certainly, the Fijians are known around the globe for being the most warm and friendly islands on earth. That hospitality – coupled with the diverse accommodations and recreation – has made Fiji's Koro Sun Resort an international favorite for relaxing holidays, active family vacations and magical romantic getaways. You may have seen the latter when the resort was featured on ABC's primetime reality series, The Bachelorette.

The 29 private bures and villas are spacious, individually appointed decor and fully air-conditioned. Your stay is all-inclusive – from airport transfers to bountiful gourmet fare and a flurry of non-motorized water sport activities. Beverages are additional. From now through November 1, 2013, all Edgewater Villas are 50 percent off. For more details, visit www.korosunresort.com/edgewater villas.

