

A "Rockin' Summer" at the Arizona Biltmore

Written by Jaclyn Weishar

Wednesday, 26 June 2013 10:56 - Last Updated Friday, 19 July 2013 16:36

Since 1929, a who's-who of rockers have vacationed at the Arizona Biltmore –including Elton John, Eric Clapton, U2, Bruce Springsteen– so Arizona Biltmore is staging Rockin' Summer, with a very cool rate of $99, and a full calendar of events.

The "Rock-On" photography exhibition captures some of the best entertainers in a visual vibe that's internationally acclaimed. The pictures go into full motion on the big screen with free "Rockin' Cinema" movies and popcorn with a cash bar. Enjoy Splash Cinema with the kids at the Paradise Pool on Saturday evenings.

Speaking of poolside fun, Sunday Fundays at the famous Paradise Pool include two cocktails with your $99 overnight rate. And before you turn out the lights in your Frank Lloyd Wright inspired accommodations, gather on the Squaw Peak lawn for a fireworks display that lights up the desert sky. It's a summer soirée as long as the days, with fun for the whole family, from wine tastings and spa specials for the adults, to kids' events, tennis camp and cooking classes that mix learning with fun. The stage is set, for more information on the events and happenings visit www.arizonabiltmore.com.