EXTRA EXTRA!

New Murder Mystery Dinner Theater Shows at Dave & Buster's in Phoenix

On October 14th, Dead By Dessert Dinner Theater will be premiering their newest audience interactive murder mystery comedy "Curse Of The Cat Idol" at Dave & Buster's in Desert Ridge. Located at 21001 N Tatum Blvd, Dave & Buster's is a great destination for food and fun, and now Dead By Dessert Dinner Theater will add to that fun.

"We're very excited to be offering this new murder mystery show," said owners Miciah & Jori Dodge. "The audience will have to question the suspects and pay attention to clues to solve the crime. We are also very pleased to be working with Dave & Buster's. The location is beautiful, the staff is friendly, and the food is absolutely delicious!"

Tickets to "Curse Of The Cat Idol" are an all-inclusive $49.95, and include dinner, the show, non-alcoholic beverage, and gratuity. Dinner begins with Caesar salad and freshly baked rolls. Entree options are lemon-grilled chicken with pineapple rice and sauteed green beans, or for $2 extra patrons can choose sirloin steak; vegetarians may opt for pasta primavera.

The show itself is set in the 1930's and is populated with colorful characters who each have a dark, if somewhat comedic, secret. As intrepid explorer Professor Digory Pottersfield returns from his latest find, his adoring and mostly loyal wife Penelope plans a surprise party to celebrate. But when something goes terribly wrong, who is to blame? Could it be the butler, Dogsdinner? Perhaps the eccentric and mysterious fortune teller, Madam Malarki? Or is it simply...the Curse of the Cat Idol?

"Curse Of The Cat Idol" will be playing Friday evenings at Dave & Buster's at 7:30pm. For ticketing, additional information and to see a complete show schedule, patrons should consult www.deadbydessert.com, or call Dead By Dessert directly at (623) 332-4012.
