EXTRA EXTRA!

Many of us will not be able to afford the cars up for grabs at the upcoming Barrett-Jackson auto auction. If you fall into that category but would still love to drive those cars there is an alternative.

No we're not stealing them! Gone in 60 Seconds was on TV last night again, huh?

Barrett-Jackson is running a contest that will allow the lucky winner to drive some of the world's most rare and valuable classic cars... for an entire day!

That's right, just click this link, "Like" the Barrett-Jackson page and enter the contest. If chosen, you could be cruising in style, around the auction grounds of course. Click here for the link.
