

New Tools For ACCEL Schools

Written by Sarah Love

Tuesday, 03 April 2012 13:51 - Last Updated Tuesday, 03 April 2012 16:51

EXTRA EXTRA!

To help students and teachers of the ACCEL Special Education Schools, Amazon Fulfillment will be donating fifty Kindle e-readers to help the school grow and to assist students with learning differences.

On Thursday, April 5th, at 10:00am, at ACCEL School, Media are invited to attend the presentation of the Kindle e-readers where students and teachers will receive and use their Kindles for the first time. Participants will be able to interview with people such as: John Tagawa, Amazon Phoenix General Manager; Nancy Molder, ACCEL VP of Educational Services; Dr. Mindy Malik, ACCEL VP of Training and Program Development and others as well as ACCEL students and teachers.

Amazon.com is a Fortune 500 company and is proud to be helping thousands of people in the region like they are with ACCEL VP Schools in the Phoenix and Tempe area.