

Kia Motors and Phoenix Suns Team Up

Written by Sarah Love

Tuesday, 10 April 2012 15:24 - Last Updated Tuesday, 10 April 2012 16:47

EXTRA EXTRA!

Teaming up are the Phoenix Suns and Kia Motors!

On Tuesday, April 10th, these two great companies are coming together to launch the "Suns Spring Reading Program" at three elementary schools in Phoenix.

Tom Chambers and Kevin Ray, broadcasters from the Suns, will be on-hand, speaking with students and discuss to encourage them to make reading a part of their every day routine. To act out his favorite book, "Sick But Slick" while Chambers and Ray read the story aloud, will be the Phoenix Sun Gorilla himself. To add to the fun, each student will receive a Suns/Kia bag equipped with school supplies and 200 Phoenix Suns tickets will be donated to the schools by Kia Motors.

The times for the event are:

Tuesday, April 10	Tuesday, April 10	Tuesday, April 10
--------------------------	--------------------------	--------------------------

9 – 9:45 a.m.	10:30 – 11:15 a.m.	1 – 1:45 p.m
---------------	--------------------	--------------

Dunbar Elementary	Arthur Hamilton Elementary	Justine Spitalny Elementary
--------------------------	-----------------------------------	------------------------------------

707 W. Grant St	2020 W. Durango Rd	3201 N. 46 th Drive
-----------------	--------------------	--------------------------------

Phoenix, AZ 85007	Phoenix, AZ 85009	Phoenix, AZ 85031
-------------------	-------------------	-------------------

Visit their website for more information: www.suns.com