EXTRA EXTRA!

This spring, fifteen professional athletes are giving back to their local communities simultaneously as part of the popchips game changers program. Sports stars including Arizona's very own Ryan Roberts along with Tim Lincecum, Ray Rice, Baron Davis and Hope Solo are asking their fans, "How can I give back to our community?" Fans in Phoenix now have the chance to submit to Phoenix charities and causes for Ryan Roberts to support. Whether the athletes choose to visit a local hospital, school, or help a regional animal shelter, they will all be giving back to the city that has supported them.

From April 2nd to April 30th, popchips will be accepting charity and local cause submissions on <http://popchi.ps/ryanpops> as well as on ryan robert's facebook page <http://www.facebook.com/ryanrobertsbaseball>. The following month, the local community of Phoenix will be invited to vote on the submissions that they want to see popchips bring to life. Ryan Roberts will then choose the winning idea from the top five most popular entries and in June, popchips will help all fifteen athletes give back to their hometowns simultaneously.
