

Kanye Owes Taylor

Written by Kirstina Bolton

Wednesday, 12 September 2012 14:04 - Last Updated Wednesday, 12 September 2012 15:06

EXTRA! EXTRA!

If you are keeping tabs on the top songs on iTunes, it looks like Kanye West owes Taylor Swift a favor. Taylor Swift's song "Ronan" was number 1 with majority of the proceeds going to childhood cancer foundations and some portions will go to the Ronan Thompson Foundation, but has now fallen to number 2 because of the one and only Kanye West. Irony when you think about the VMA's just a few years as Kanye tried to take away Taylor's Moon man award on live television. Kanye West isn't going to take this away from Taylor Swift either. Don't you think Kanye West should now give some of his profits to the Ronan Thompson Foundation. Let's start tweeting Kanye West and see what he has to say about it all.

With the proceeds from the song and other funding, The Ronan Thompson Foundation will break ground on the state of the art cancer, research and care center. This research center would be a place for kids and their families to seek refuge, relax, and give them the chance to still be a kid. They want to include, housing for the families near by, art and music rooms, playgrounds, and a movie theater. More details to come soon.

Want to help? Donate and read more about the Ronan Thompson Foundation here, theronanthompsonfoundation.com

Come out and support The Ronan Thompson Foundation, get your tickets the Gold Party where actress Charisma Carpenter will be hosting. Here is more info www.arizonafoothillsmagazine.com/events

Get to know Ronan's mom Maya Thompson here, www.arizonafoothillsmagazine.com/people