

Miraval: The Villas in Tucson

Written by Written by Cassandra Weinman

If you're looking for respite from all of life's stresses and woes, Miraval Arizona's Villas provide all that and more.

Overlooking the sun-kissed Sonoran Desert, Miraval Arizona is consistently rated as one of the top destination resort spas in the nation. Opened in 1996 and located just 30 miles outside of Tucson, Miraval provides amenities that are simultaneously indulgent and life-enriching. Miraval has become known for its unconventional spa experience, and its newest addition continues that legacy.

Nestled against the Santa Catalina Mountains, the Villas allow owners to luxuriate in the spa experience year-round. The 16 villas (four villas are currently still available) provide striking desert views, sustainable design and access to Miraval's famous spa. Ranging in price between $2.25 and $3.4 million, the Villas come equipped with either two or three bedrooms and can be bought fully furnished. The all-inclusive furnishing package allows owners to forgo the stress of decorating a new home and includes local artwork, special window treatments and home designs by world-renowned spa designer Clodagh of Clodagh Design.

Thanks to a multi-faceted design plan, the Villas offer not only unique aesthetics, but sustainability as well. Each villa is LEED Silver-certified by the U.S. Green Building Council, allowing residents to truly experience and enjoy the beauty of the desert by incorporating materials found right in their own backyard. A private courtyard provides a hot tub and Viking grill; inside, expansive pocketing doors provide panoramic views of the mountains. The floors are paneled with sumptuous antique oak or black walnut and the Spanish cedar ceiling round out the interior, giving each villa an elegant and cozy atmosphere. For the gourmand in the family, every spacious kitchen comes equipped with a Sub Zero under-counter wine storage and Thermador Freedom refrigerator and dishwasher. In addition to the superb design and features, owning a villa comes with an array of benefits that include access to all of the Miraval Resort Facilities and scheduled activities, concierge staff to meet any and every need, and transportation to and from the Tucson International Airport. Members can also enjoy a 20 percent discount on spa treatments, personal services, golf and dining. Whether you're being pampered in the spa, lounging in your personalized villa or dining on meals that are as easy on the taste-buds as they are on the waistline, one thing is certain at Miraval's Villas—you'll never want to leave.
