

Dog-Friendly Resorts in Tucson

Written by Ashley Pearlstein

For those who consider their pets to be a part of the family, leaving them home while on vacation is out of the question. Here is a list of dog-friendly resorts that will allow for a relaxing trip for the whole family, Spot included.

Loews Ventana Canyon

Loews Ventana Canyon will wait on your furry friend “hand and paw.” Loews features gourmet room service menus for cats and dogs by the award-winning Executive Chef, special dog walking routes, pet placemats, water bowls, treats, leashes, collars, and pet-walking and sitting services. With the pet amenities at Loews, your pup will never want to leave.

www.loewshotels.com.

The Ritz-Carlton, Dove Mountain

The Ritz-Carlton welcomes all well-mannered dogs, making it a luxurious stay for its guests on four legs as well as two. The hotel has dedicated rooms for dogs and has a 25-pound weight policy. Be sure to check with the concierge about the best places to take the pup around the hotel.

www.ritzcarlton.com.

Westin La Paloma Resort & Spa

The Westin La Paloma offers a pet-friendly environment that your dog will love. With a pet welcome upon arrival, a “Heavenly Pet Bed,” food and water bowls, toys, treats, and clean up baggies, the resort has every amenity necessary to put your pet at ease during vacation.

www.westinlapalomaresort.com.

Canyon Ranch

Canyon Ranch provides a complimentary gift basket filled with treats and toys for your pet upon arrival. Guests with pets will stay in one of the deluxe accommodation rooms designated as pet-comfortable. The resort can also order pet food requests that will be billed to your room.

www.canyonranch.com.

Westward Look Wyndham Resort & Spa

At Westward Look, pets are always welcome. Dozens of walking paths, trails, and outdoor areas around the resort will relax your four-legged friend. Pets must be kept on a leash during their stay and a pet fee does apply. Join Westward Look and make it a vacation you and your pet will never forget.

www.westwardlook.com.